- Subway

The airport subway station is situated right beside the passenger terminal, easily accessible by foot. To reach the city centre, take Line E, which connects the airport to Porto's city centre in a 27-minute journey across 15 stops. The journey concludes at Trindade station, which serves as the exit station.

Tickets can be purchased from the ticket machines in the passenger terminal or at the subway station. Payment options include cash and credit/debit card.

- Bus

The airport bus station is located adjacent to the passenger terminal, providing easy access on foot. For travel to the city centre, you can board Bus 601, a direct route connecting the airport to Porto's city centre. The journey takes approximately 47 minutes and covers 29 stops. Your destination is Cordoaria station, where your journey concludes.

Tickets can be purchased from the ticket machines in the passenger terminal or at the bus. Payment options include cash and credit/debit card.

- Taxi

Taxis are available all over the city at any time. You can find them at taxi stands, including the airport, or call one using your phone. You can also use taxi services from apps like Uber or Bolt, which you can order through their mobile applications.

- Weather conditions

October in Porto brings mild conditions, with daytime temperatures averaging around 17 °C and nighttime temperatures around 8 °C. Expect rain and temperature changes. It's recommended to wear warm clothing, including a hat, and carry an umbrella.
